These are the questions that hit the minds of various people. Here in this article we are going to discuss various facts related to the anonymous cards.

Level of security provided by the anonymous credit card

There is no doubt that the anonymous credit cards provide you the higher level of security, but when it comes to the confidentiality, chances are there that you would not be satisfied. Though legally it is ensured to provide the full confidentiality, but in reality, it gets compromised. According to the Patriot Act, it is required by the federal government that the applicants' social security number would be collected by credit card issuers. But, most of the card issuers also collect the applicants' phone number, email address, date of birth and some other details. Thus, if it happens with you, then even after having the anonymous card, a record of ownership on your name will still exist.

However, the anonymous credit cards do not keep a record of the deposits or the payment history. Also, they are not reported to any credit bureau. So, you can expect a level of privacy from them.

Working concept of anonymous prepaid credit card

Though named as credit card, but the prepaid anonymous credit card works in the same way as that of the debit card. The resemblance exists in the fact that in the prepaid credit card, the limit of the card is not decided by the issuing bank, but the credit card limit depends on the amount of the money that is deposited by the card holder. And the card-holder's spending is also restricted to the deposits that are made by the card holder. However, there is no limit on the number of times a card-holder can deposit funds in his account, but there are the limits for the amount of money that can be placed on the card. However, the funds can be added to the card as long as the card is reloadable. In the case your cards cannot be reloaded, you will be required to purchase a new card.

Though most of the card issuers claim that the card issued by them can be used online, but all cards do not work the same way. So, you are required to ensure that the card you are buying is affiliated to a major bank; otherwise you will not be able to use it online. However, when it comes to anonymous credit card offshore, you are required to know that virtual anonymous cards are also available. As the name depicts, the applicant is not provided with an actual credit card, but he will be given an account number. Such cards can be used online only.
